

Newsletter February 2025

First, an apology to members of our WhatsApp Group for repeating some of the news that they have already heard. WhatsApp really does allow more rapid distribution of news: but it also enables interaction between members for advice and discussion. This was particularly so during the recent storms.

Disposal of out-of-date pyrotechnic flares. On behalf of CMBHA, Ian Roberts has been investigating the disposal of out-of-date incendiary flares, starting from the <https://thegreenblue.org.uk/environmental-facilities-map/>

He has discovered that they can now be taken to Maldwyn Griffith, Compliance Armour, near Pentraeth. 07824882932; His email is griffith535@btinternet.com

You will be charged £3 per flare. The Postcode is LL75 8YP, but you must make contact first for directions and to arrange drop off.

Safety: Now is the time to check safety equipment around the boat. This is the advice from the RNLI about lifejackets How to check and maintain your lifejacket video

The CMBHA AGM (Annual General Meeting) will be at about 3pm on Saturday 12th April at The Mulberry.

Boatfolk have now acquired an 'audible fire alarm' after repeated requests from CMBHA. We'll let you know when it's been installed etc.

Your committee continues to remind Boatfolk of the improvements needed at the marina e.g. WiFi and was told before Christmas that all major projects have been put on hold. CMBHA wrote to Boatfolk for clarification: this email is on our web site: no response has been received.

Our membership fee increases from £10 to £15 in April, whilst the fee for a Joint member will stay at £5. If you renew membership now, it will be at the new price and your membership will be valid until April 2026.

There is a facility on our web site to take a screenshot of a digital membership card which will show your name, membership number and the expiry date of your membership. This is a more sustainable solution than a plastic card: it saves CMBHA time and postage – and helps save the environment.

We will be emailing members who pay by direct debit to say that their subscription plan has changed, and to remind them not to pay a second time with another method.

Please let us know, by email, WhatsApp or telephone what you would like organised this year. We'd also like to know your thoughts about our Start of Season event.

Best regards,
Roger Millward
Chairman CMBHA
on behalf of your committee
